

Dear Hiring Team,

I am writing to express my interest in the remote Frontend Developer position at your company. I am a Frontend Developer with hands-on training in React, JavaScript, HTML, and CSS, and I have focused my work on building responsive, user-friendly web applications with clean structure and scalable components.

Through my personal projects, I have developed practical experience with frontend development concepts such as reusable components, REST API integration, authentication flows, protected routes, and responsive design. In projects like Rescue Store, BeachApp, and Playa Segura, I applied these skills to create functional interfaces that solve real problems and reflect my interest in building useful, modern digital products.

In addition to my technical background, I bring strong problem-solving skills, adaptability, and calm decision-making under pressure from my experience working as a lifeguard. That role has taught me responsibility, teamwork, and how to perform effectively in demanding situations, qualities that I believe also add value in professional development environments.

I am especially interested in remote opportunities because they allow me to contribute in collaborative, international environments where communication, ownership, and continuous improvement are valued. I am confident in my professional English proficiency and comfortable working with documentation, teamwork, and technical communication in English.

I would welcome the opportunity to contribute to your team, continue growing as a developer, and bring commitment, curiosity, and a strong work ethic to your projects. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Lucas Epherra.